If you are activating your Brown account, you will need to know your Brown ID number.

If you don't have an ID card, here's where to find your ID number:

- Faculty and staff: shortly after receiving your Brown hire letter, you will receive an email from the sender NoReply@brown.edu with your ID number and instructions for activation. Don't see it? Check your spam folder, or contact Human Resources at 401-863-3175 with questions.

- Students, faculty, and staff: if you don't have your ID card on you but need your ID number, you can visit myaccount.brown.edu, click Manage Account on the top right and log in, then scroll to the bottom of the page to find your Brown ID number.

- Brown Affiliates: if you are a Brown affiliate without an ID card, your department will receive your ID number when your account is set up.

- Alumni: You must contact the Brown Alumni Help Desk to activate your Brown account instead of submitting the Activate page in MyAccount.

If you already have an ID card, you will find it marked on the front of the card as in the image below.

- Applicants: Applicants no longer have access to any Brown ID numbers. You do NOT need to activate your Brown account until you have been accepted and committed to the University. Please contact your respective Admissions office depending on the school you are applying to:

- Undergraduate Applicants: email admission@brown.edu or call 401-863-2378
- Graduate Applicants: manage your application at https://www.applyweb.com/browng/index.ftl
- Medical Applicants: contact medschool_admissions@brown.edu

Is there something incorrect about this article? Let us know in the comments section below so you can help us improve it!