If you are completing an undergraduate, graduate, or medical degree this semester, you will receive an email describing what changes will occur to your Brown account, email, and other electronic services shortly before your the end of the semester.

Generally, the changes are as follows:

- Your Brown username and password will continue to exist, but you will lose access to most services unless you continue at Brown in another capacity (see details below).
- In most cases, your current Google account will be renamed from @brown.edu to @alumni.brown.edu, and will continue to contain all your current content (for example, email and Google Drive files). This process will vary if you are continuing as a student, faculty, or staff at Brown. For more information about what happens in the case of continuing affiliation, refer to the article Learn about Lifetime Brown Email for Alumni.
- Within a month of completing your graduation requirements, you will receive access to additional services for alumni.

You will lose access to these services:

We’d love to give you these services forever, but unfortunately we are bound by licensing! :

- After degree completion is confirmed by the Registrar:
  - Brown Wifi (you can still use Brown-Guest)
  - Building access
  - Canvas
  - Library access (you can contact the library in order to request alumni-level access)
  - Library circulation
  - RIPTA access
  - Printing
  - Dining
  - Use of computers in computer labs
  - Software
    - Microsoft Office 365 will go into read-only mode as late as 30 days after graduation
- please uninstall all non-subscription based Brown software from your computer as well
  - VPN (if you still need access, email cap@brown.edu)
  - Two-Step Verification
  - Zoom

- Note: You will still be able to join meetings and accept invites, but you will not be on the Brown Zoom license anymore. This means you will not be able to create meetings without limits on length and capacity, as well as losing access to Zoom services that require a Brown login.
- We recognize that current circumstances have often required access to video conferencing. We recommend either creating your own free Zoom account or trying out Google Meet, which is included connected to your Brown email and will continue to be available indefinitely.

- 10 days after degree completion
  - Your @brown.edu address becomes @alumni.brown.edu (in most cases - exceptions listed here). You'll log in with the alumni address, same password as before. Your email, contacts, Drive, etc. content will still be accessible.

- Three to four weeks after degree completion
  - You will have access to the Alumni Edition of selected library e-Resources through the Brown Alumni Association. See Eresources on Alumni & Friends for details.
  - You will have access to the full range of alumni services available through the Alumni & Friends website, including the Brown Handshake for Alumni Job Board and the Alumni Directory. See Alumni & Friends for details.

- 1 year after degree completion
  - mail to your @brown.edu address stops forwarding to your @alumni.brown.edu address and bounces back to sender

- 18 months after degree completion
  - Access to Workday for tax records (former student employees only)

You will continue to be able to access:

- Banner (selfservice.brown.edu) - for unofficial transcripts
- Rosetta Stone (rosettastone.brown.edu)
- myaccount.brown.edu (to manage your password)
- Workday (for student employee W2 forms - ends 18 months after degree completion)

You will receive additional access:

- MyBrown remains the portal to your new Personal Profile, the Alumni Directory, subscriptions, and volunteer tools such as alumni interviewing
- Your continuing services are also accessible through the Dashboard: BrownConnect
(alumni view), transcripts, Brown account, Handshake job board, alumni edition of library E-resources, etc.

Checklist

- If you plan to use a personal email address for communications with Brown, please be sure your non-Brown address is listed as "preferred" in your Personal Profile on Alumni & Friends, or you may miss future updates about your services.
- When your email transitions to an alumni account as described above, remember to log in to your email as @alumni.brown.edu (same password as before).
- Did you set up any online accounts with your @brown.edu address? If so, update these accounts after you get Alumni email to use @alumni.brown.edu or a personal address of your choice. During this time your Brown email will still be forwarded to you, so you have some flexibility.
- Did you have files stored in Dropbox, Adobe Creative Cloud, or your Home Folder (the folder that shows up on computer lab machines?) If so, move your files to a personal account or to your Brown Google Drive.
- For Adobe Creative Cloud users who expect to continue to use Adobe services after you leave Brown, visit https://graduation.adobe.com for details on migrating your cloud assets directly to a new account. Adobe will offer a discount on your first year of their paid service if you visit https://adobe.com/graduation.
- If you purchase Microsoft Office 365 or Adobe Creative Cloud subscriptions, you can log out of your Brown account and log in with your new username and password to continue using without having to reinstall.
