

Knowledgebase > Desktop Computing and Printing > Computing Labs > Use the Computing Labs

Use the Computing Labs

Stephanie Obodda - 2025-12-05 - Comments (0) - Computing Labs

OIT's computing labs have been moved online via Brown's MyApps service. You can use a virtual computing lab from anywhere with just a web browser, so you can get your computing work done remotely as needed. Some software is also available via our software download site.

There are also scanning stations with limited software also located on the first floor of the Rockefeller library. These computers have enough software on them to allow you to scan and interact with important titles.