

Knowledgebase > Teaching Learning and Research > coursetools.brown.edu > What's the difference between coursetools.brown and CAB (Courses@brown?)

What's the difference between coursetools.brown and CAB (Courses@brown?)

gillian bell - 2021-09-30 - Comments (0) - coursetools.brown.edu

What's the difference between coursestools.brown.edu and CAB (also known as Courses @ brown?)
coursetools.brown.edu is used by faculty focused to upload syllabi and request course tools, like a blog or a Canvas site.

If you have questions about coursetools.brown, please contact itg@brown.edu CAB (Courses @ Brown) is used by students to learn about courses during shopping period, plan schedules, and access course registration in Banner. If you have questions about CAB, please contact the Office of the Registrar at registrar@brown.edu or refer to the additional information here.